Xưởng giấy mối

As the lead designer for this magazine, I played a pivotal role in shaping its visual identity and overall aesthetic. The magazine focuses on student life and school events, capturing the vibrant and dynamic experiences within the educational community. My responsibilities included designing engaging layouts, selecting impactful imagery, and ensuring a cohesive visual narrative throughout the publication. By combining creative design elements with compelling content, I aimed to create a magazine that resonates with students and highlights the unique aspects of school life and activities.

Sao sáng trời nam

As part of the "Along The Nine Dragons" project, a compelling book series by Ben Song Van explores nine distinct regions of Vietnam. This series delves into the rich cultural and historical tapestry of each region, offering readers an in-depth look at Vietnam's diverse literary landscape. Each book introduces and celebrates the lives and works of renowned figures in Vietnam's literary field, providing insights into their contributions and the broader context of Vietnamese literature. Through these captivating narratives, the series aims to enhance appreciation for Vietnam's literary heritage and inspire a deeper connection to the nation's cultural identity.

Moonlearn

I led the redesign Canvas, a learning management system. My responsibilities included conducting comprehensive user experience research, incorporating these insights into the interface design, and overseeing the branding process.

The name "moonlearn" combines the Vietnamese word "muon" (meaning "want") with "moon." This name symbolizes students' desire to learn and their late-night efforts to meet deadlines.

I heart plants

I curated a digital exhibition showcasing unique and unusual plants centered around the theme of "Heart." This exhibition features an array of gorgeous plants, each with a natural shape resembling a heart. Inspired by their distinct forms, I designed custom icons for each plant, emphasizing their heart-like characteristics. These bespoke icons add a unique and captivating touch to the exhibition, enhancing the visual experience and drawing attention to the natural beauty and diversity of these extraordinary plants. Through this creative approach, I aimed to celebrate the intricate wonders of nature while offering viewers a visually engaging and memorable experience.

Who's Fresh

This animation illustrates the food safety process at a supermarket, depicted as an engaging contest among various types of food. In this creative and educational storyline, each food item must undergo and pass a series of rigorous safety checks and quality tests to earn its place on the supermarket shelves. The contest format adds a competitive and entertaining twist, making the process both informative and enjoyable for viewers. Through this animation, the audience gains a deeper understanding of the importance of food safety standards and the meticulous procedures involved in ensuring that only the best products reach consumers.

Escape

The game is about a young boy trying to escape from a killer's house. I put a lot of effort into this project, starting with the basic idea and working through every detail. I also took care of everything from coming up with the overall concept, gameplay, game mechanics, to visual scripting, audio design and post-production. Using Unity to build the game, I combined technical skills with creativity to make this tense and thrilling experience. The final result is a game that challenges players and keeps them on the edge of their seats, making every choice crucial for survival.
